

Tropical Storm Isaias | Update #8

REPORT TIME & DATE: 11:00 AM EDT | Sunday, August 09, 2020

REPORT DISTRIBUTION: Public

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Tropical Storm Isaias caused significant power outages across the East Coast, from North Carolina to Maine, on August 4, 2020. Restoration efforts are underway throughout the region. Remaining power outages from Tropical Storm Isaias are concentrated in Connecticut, New Jersey, and New York. Mutual assistance and contract crews from at least 33 states, the District of Columbia, and Canada are supporting the restorations. The DOE Energy Response Center remains activated to coordinate with interagency, state, and industry partners.

Electricity Sector Summary

- As of 9:30 AM EDT, August 9, there were approximately 368,000 outages remaining along the East Coast. Restoration efforts are underway across the affected areas. Fluctuation in the outage numbers is expected and normal during large-scale restoration efforts.
- Select Outages by State, as of 9:30 AM EDT, August 9:
  - New Jersey: 40,919 customer outages, down from a peak of 1,391,308
  - New York: 151,456 customer outages, down from a peak of 843,857
  - Connecticut: 175,987 customer outages, down from a peak of 757,700

Oil & Natural Gas Sector Summary

- As of August 6, the U.S. Coast Guard has reopened all East Coast ports following Isaias.
- Power has been restored to several key petroleum product terminals in the Northeast. No other significant impacts have been reported in the oil and natural gas sub-sector.

PETROLEUM SECTOR

Central Atlantic Region (PADD 1B)

Transportation fuels used in the Central Atlantic Region (Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey) are mainly produced at in-region refineries clustered in the greater Philadelphia area and New York Harbor or produced in Gulf Coast states and transported north via the Colonial pipeline system. Marine imports from domestic and international markets also bring products into Baltimore, Delaware River, and New York Harbor ports for distribution to the region.

PORTS

- As of August 6, the U.S. Coast Guard had reopened all East Coast ports following the passage of Tropical Storm Isaias.

FUEL INVENTORIES

- According to the Energy Information Administration (EIA), for the week ending on July 31, gasoline and distillate stocks exceeded the 5-year seasonal average across the East Coast.

East Coast Fuel Inventories as of July 31, 2020
Region	Gasoline (MMbbl)	Gasoline (Difference from 5-year seasonal average)	Distillate (MMbbl)	Distillate (Difference from 5-year seasonal average)
PADD 1A (New England)	4.8	7%	13.3	71%
PADD 1B (Central Atlantic)	33.7	5%	37.8	26%
PADD 1C (Lower Atlantic)	30.0	10%	15.2	14%
Total PADD 1	68.5	7%	66.2	30%

- EIA reports the East Coast Region (all of PADD 1) had 8.7 million barrels of total jet fuel stocks for the week ending on July 31. This is 14% lower than the 5-year average for this time of year. Jet fuel stocks are not broken out by sub-PADD region.

EMERGENCY DECLARATIONS & WAIVERS

EMERGENCY DECLARATIONS

To provide vital supplies and transportation services to a disaster area in the United States, emergency declarations may be issued by the President, Governors of States, or Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA). These declarations trigger the temporary suspension of certain Federal safety regulations, including Hours of Service, for motor carriers and drivers engaged in specific aspects of the emergency relief effort. See 49 CFR 390.23 for the actual emergency regulation.
