FE Docket No. 14-179-LNG

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Re: Pieridae Energy Export proposal, FE Docket No. 14-179-LNG

fergas@hq.doe.gov

Any authorization to export huge quantities of gas is simply not in the public interest. Not only is not a "public good" it is a public, national, environmental and climate insult and harm of enormous proportions.

- 1) the extraction of fracked gas turns public and private property into sacrifice zones;
- 2) the infrastructure to transport and process this unnatural gas turns public and private property into sacrifice zones;
- 3) exporting our resources reduces what is available to the American public;
- 4) the public's and the private property stands to be taken by eminent domain for private corporate profit a most egregious act and one that must be avoided;
- 5) this public assumes all the risk, burden and cost and the private interests reap all the benefits
- 6) no matter the country of destination, exporting LNG has no rational support to a world struggling to survive

I am also requesting an extension of time to comment and properly intervene.
