Comment:	Congress was conducting oversight in 2017 of what appears to be a concerted effort by foreign entities to funnel millions of dollars through various non-profit entities to influence the U.S. energy market. Hillary Clinton, Former Secretary of State made a private speech in 2014, according to documents, which included statements about the struggles of dealing with Russian-backed environmental groups. According to the Washington Times, Secretary Clinton said the following: "We [the State Department and the U.S.] were up against Russia pushing oligarchs and others to buy media. We were even up against phony environmental groups, and I'm a big environmentalist, but these were funded by the Russians to stand against any effort, 'Oh that pipeline, that fracking, that whatever will be a problem for you,' and a lot of the money supporting that message was coming from Russia. According to the former Secretary General of NATO, "Russia, as part of their sophisticated information and disinformation operations, engaged actively with so-called nongovernmental organizations- environmental organizations working against shale gas- to maintain dependence on imported Russian gas. In general, the potential for Russia using energy supplies as a means of putting pressure on European nations is a matter of concern. No country should use supply and pricing as tools of coercion. *🌐
